The Parish Priest's Corner

My dear good people of God. I want to dedicate this corner to studying and learning about our Catholic teachings & doctrines.

Together we can learn about our beliefs and build up our faith.

After careful examination of the Sacraments of the Church, I would like us to look at the teachings of the Church on CAPITAL SINS

ENVY

This is one of the capital sins. It is discontent with others' good. It proceeds from pride and the desire for one's own superiority. The envious person is unhappy because another has something that he wants or because another is preferred to himself.

Envy often produces dislike of the person envied. Envy could also turn to jealousy which is self-love and fear of another's superiority to oneself. Jealousy is the root of most of the strife in the world.

The jealous person is recognised as being a real danger to the Community of which he forms a part, for his sin reduces the efficiency and ruins the peace both of himself and of all with whom he comes in contact.

The tongue is a special instrument of envy and jealousy. Where jealousy or envy exists, just judgement is almost impossible. This sin affects the virtue of charity. This sin affects our relationship with God, for the envious person tends to ascribe to God the harm he believes himself to suffer from the person whom he envies.

The soul cannot love God if he is deliberately envious of his neighbour. The cure for envy is to believe the providence of God – that God gives to each one what is best for himself.
